S T O R Y

The river of Red Waters roots in an ancient myth where young lovers that turned out to be twins separated at birth die in the river. The river water transforms into ruby red wine with healing powers.

S T O R Y

The only thing that the river demands is that each time twins of opposite sex are born in the village they should be sacrificed before the end of their 25th birthday.

S T O R Y

Every day the villagers partake in a ritual accepting the elixir of the river and miracle pilgrims come for cure. When all of a sudden the wine turns to vinegar, it is evident that a twin birth has been kept secret. The divine order has been violated.

Separated at birth Sister and Brother grow up not knowing they are twins.

25 years later the river of Red Waters demands their blood in order to revive its healing power.

LADY & BIRD

Red Waters was originally written as an opera by the duo Lady & Bird. The opera was first staged in two parts at the Opera House of Rouen Haute-Normandie in 2011.
